Kadama Faith is in primary seven at Entebbe Junior Primary School in Entebbe Municipal Council. She has been in this school since 2006. Both of her parents want her to join a good secondary school next year. They always encourage her to work hard at school. Faith always visits her relatives up-country for the holidays.

After the end of February examinations, Faith talked to her parents about her holiday programme. She informed them that she intended to write letters to her pen pals in Kenya and England. She would attend her friend, Aguret's birthday on 10th May. She would travel with her friend as soon as the holiday commenced on 3rd May. She also said she would visit her grandparents after the party and get back home in the last week of the holiday. Her parents looked at the daughter and wondered. Faith's mother asked her whether she was aware that she had to sit for her Mock at the end of term two. Her father also told her that she had to have remedial classes if she was to get a good grade. He also told her that he would allow her to write letters to her penpals and spend the rest of the time revising her books.
