A STORY ABOUT PEACE IN OUR COMMUNITY

Mrs. Opio is a police officer. She is very kind and hardworking. She says she uses the gun to keep peace in the village. One day, she was going to the police station. On her way, she saw a man who had a sack and she asked him what he was carrying. When she checked, she found a young girl in the sack. He wanted to cut her head off for sacrifice. Mrs. Opio wanted to arrest the man. He took off into the bush. The police officer ran after him. She found him hiding in the bush. The kidnapper tried to beat the police officer. She got her gun ready to shoot. He put up his hands and asked Mrs. Opio to forgive him. She tied his hand and took him to the police station. Now there is no more kidnapping because of Mrs. Opio.
